

Elena Panté

Early-Career Researcher in International Security

Rome, Italy | elenapante04@gmail.com | LinkedIn

RESEARCH PROFILE

Early-career researcher and master's candidate in Global Security Policy, specialising in nuclear strategy, arms control and non-proliferation, authoritarian strategic behaviour, and dual-use technologies. Research and publications examine nuclear and space capabilities, digital securitisation, and challenges to the liberal international order. Experience spans policy-oriented research, substantive manuscript review, editorial coordination, and public-facing academic activities. Developing a research agenda on weapons of mass destruction (WMD) proliferation and illicit trafficking in chemical, biological, radiological and nuclear (CBRN) materials, with North Korea as a primary case study.

Areas of Expertise

Nuclear Strategy and Deterrence; Arms Control, Disarmament and Non-Proliferation; Authoritarian Strategic Behaviour; WMD Proliferation and Illicit CBRN Trafficking; Dual-Use and Space Technologies; North Korea and East Asian Security; Hybrid Threats and Digital Securitisation.

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

Elena Panté. "Opaque Deterrence in Orbit: How North Korea Uses Space to Project Power and Challenge Arms Control." IE International Policy Review, 7(1), 2026. Published in collaboration with The Sundial Press, Sciences Po.

Elena Panté and David Dumontet. "Securing the Narrative: Digital Securitisation and the Politics of Visibility in Ukraine's Information War." Special Edition: Democratic Backsliding, IE International Policy Review × The Politic, Yale University, 2026.

Elena Panté. "Illiberal Democracy and Contestation of the Liberal Order: The Case of Trump's America." IE International Policy Review, 6(2), 2025.

RESEARCH & EDITORIAL EXPERIENCE

Writer | International Relations Chapter Officer

IE International Policy Review, IE University · Remote | January 2025 – July 2026

Writer: January – September 2025 | Chapter Officer: September 2025 – July 2026

- Progressed from Writer to International Relations Chapter Officer, taking responsibility for the chapter's editorial workflow.
- Coordinated approximately 35 manuscripts and directly reviewed around 20 papers, providing substantive and structural feedback and mentoring contributors.
- Managed publication timelines, contributor communication and quality assurance, applying the Chicago Manual of Style, 18th edition.
- Supported international editorial partnerships with The Sundial Press at Sciences Po and The Politic at Yale University.
- Produced original policy-oriented research alongside editorial and coordination responsibilities.

Workshop Team Member

Hikma Association · Bologna and Forlì, Italy | September 2025 – Present

- Conduct background research and prepare policy briefs, country profiles and analytical materials for workshops and international simulations.
- Contributed to the design and delivery of "EU Accession Negotiations" and "The Last Land: Antarctica", addressing EU enlargement and Antarctic governance.
- Supported participant-facing activities and cooperation with experts and practitioners.

EDUCATION

Master’s Degree in Global Security Policy (LM-52), ongoing

Roma Tre University | 2025 – Present

Curriculum in Conflicts and Security in the Global World

Selected coursework: Strategic Studies; Nuclear Power in the International System; Political Radicalisation and Violence; Theories of Conflict and Peace Processes.

Bachelor’s Degree in International Relations and Diplomatic Affairs (L-36)

University of Bologna, Forlì Campus | 2022 – 2025

SELECTED POLICY ENGAGEMENT & ACADEMIC ACTIVITIES

- Co-Moderator, “Defence Strategies in Transition: Security, Re-armament and Policy Challenges”, IE International Policy Review.
 - Volunteer, 18th Pan-European Conference on International Relations, European International Studies Association, 2025.
 - Delegate, ECOSOC Committee, MUN Rome, 2025.
-

AWARDS

- Best Writer Award, IE International Policy Review, for “Opaque Deterrence in Orbit” (2026).
 - Honorary Mention, IE International Policy Review, for “Illiberal Democracy and Contestation of the Liberal Order” (2025).
 - Best Position Paper Award, ECOSOC Committee, MUN Rome (2025).
-

CERTIFICATIONS & TRAINING

- Open-source Intelligence – Basel Institute on Governance
September 2026 | Completed 4 September 2026
 - Cambridge C1 Advanced
October 2025 | Grade B | Overall Score: 198 | CEFR Level: C1
-

LANGUAGES & RESEARCH SKILLS

Languages: Italian – Native | English – C1 Advanced | Russian – Basic (A2)

Research Skills: Policy analysis; Qualitative research; Literature review; Open-Source Intelligence (OSINT); Academic and policy writing; Substantive manuscript editing; Research coordination; Chicago Manual of Style, 18th edition; Microsoft Office.